

Mediterranean superpower project

From the Muslim project I have learned lots about the muslim religion and how it worked many years ago. It taught me all about their history and some of their important beliefs and religious locations. In the project we described every aspect of the Muslim empire and how it was what we viewed as the most powerful mediterranean superpower. We detailed information ranging from their political situation as far as to their religious beliefs. I do believe that it would have been so much better if we had enforced rules better, however I put myself to blame for not leading more effectively. I myself did work very well and time efficiently though and I believe that was the main reason I thought highly of this project for myself. This project really ties to the EBA because it teaches us about a large religion in the world and may help our person to person relations in the outer world.

Greek mythology video

In our greek mythology video we showcased three videos, including Pandora's box, Prometheus, and Between Scylla and Charybdis. We went over the basics of each myth and showed how each myth played out for our showcase. Gavin, Reilly, and I all learned about each of these myths and about the stories of where we got a lot of our common sayings. And this connects to the EBA because everyday people learn from the myths and information the Greeks collected.
